

Scary Subtraction!

Take all of the Number Stacks cards from 1 to 6, shuffle them and place them in a pile facing down. Take two cards and answer the subtraction question in the corresponding square - if you get it right, you score a point. If you get it wrong, or your square contains a haunted house, your turn is over. First person to score 10 points wins! As an alternative, you could always race to answer the question first once the square has been revealed or perhaps make it a rule that a haunted house means your points go back to zero.
